REVA Puerto Rico Operations: Hurricane Maria Update

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. – Hurricane Maria has developed into a dangerous storm and is taking aim at the Caribbean, including REVA’s San Juan, Puerto Rico Operation. REVA’s emergency response plan has been activated.

We have re-positioned our Puerto Rico-based aircraft to safe locations and we will fly into the Caribbean territories to transport patients and support the recovery effort as soon as respective airports allow following the storm’s passing.

Our case managers located within the R.O.C, REVA Operations Center Headquarters, are ready and prepared to receive calls and dispatch aircraft, uninterrupted throughout the duration of the storm and thereafter.
